

World Veterinary Day celebrated in TEC-IVRI, Pune

Training and Education Centre, ICAR-Indian Veterinary Research Institute, Pune, celebrated World Veterinary Day by organizing a seminar on Antimicrobial Resistance- from Awareness to Action in Veterinary Practice on 5th May 2017. About 40 Veterinary Officers and PG students from different veterinary colleges (Parbhani, Udgir and Shirwal Veterinary Colleges) attended the programme.

Dr KN Bhilegaonkar, SIC, TEC Pune briefed the participants about the importance of the theme of this years' World Veterinary Day celebrations, which was followed by an expert lecture on Antimicrobial Resistance- from Awareness to Action in Veterinary Practice. During the occasion, a competition on “Best Clinical Case Report Presentation” was also arranged for the PG students and the practicing veterinarians. All the participants actively participated in the interaction.

Dr KN Bhilegaonkar addressing the participants

Clinical case presentation

Participants of World Veterinary Day celebrations

Presentation of certificate for the First Prize winner, Dr Pradip R Bagale