

Inauguration of Hands-on training on reproductive ultrasonography for better reproductive management in small and large ruminants at IVRI Mukteswar

A seven-day (3rd oct to 9th oct 2023) certificate and vocational course on “hands-on training on reproductive ultrasonography for better reproductive management in small and large ruminants” has been started at IVRI Mukteswar. The inauguration of the training program was organized in the forenoon of 3rd October 2023 under the chairmanship of Dr B. Mondal, Station in-charge, and Dr Sher Singh, Head of Temperate Animal Husbandry (TAH) Division. Dr Nitish Singh Kharayat, Scientist, TAH division is the Co-ordinator of this training program. He informed that a total of fourteen participants (Veterinary officers and PhD scholars) from Uttarakhand, Haryana, Karnataka, and Rajasthan have registered and participated in this training program. Dr. B. Mondal, Station in charge, and Dr. Sher Singh, Head, TAH Division gave a brief introduction of Division of virology and TAH to the participants. The Scientists, technical staff of IVRI Mukteswar, and participants were present in the program. The inauguration program was anchored by Dr. Deepika Bisht, Scientist, Division of Virology. The program was concluded with a vote of thanks by Dr. Amol Gurav, Scientist, Division of TAH.

Lighting the lamp in the inauguration of training program

Interaction of participants and scientists during the inauguration program

Scientists of IVRI Mukteshwar and participants of training